OPINION OF VIRGINIA.
BROAD RUN, LOUDOUN CO., VA., May 8, 1875.

Hon. Lewis McKenzie.
DEAR SIR:—In answer to your inquiries as to the opinion I have formed of Virginia since I have resided in it, I would make the following statement:

I came here four years last Christmas from New Jersey, and bought 250 acres of land in Loudoun county, near Guilford station, on the Washington and Ohio railroad, for which I paid $30 per acre. I have worked this land ever since, and am well satisfied with it, as well with all my surroundings. I have since bought 197 acres adjoining for $18 per acre, and about 60 acres more near Herndon, on the railroad, for the same price. These tracts are both woodland. I have worked my farm to corn, wheat and oats, and have done quite as well with it, as to profit, as I did upon my New Jersey land. I have also cut and sold to the railroad company about $5,000 worth of wood.

With good land, good water, and a fine climate, and surrounded by good, kind neighbors, I think I would be unreasonable if I were not contented with my lot. My lines have been east in pleasant places. The Guilford neighborhood is not as well supplied with churches as we would wish, but hitherto the county has been thinly populated, and as it fills up we shall be better off. We have plenty of good free schools.

I am about eight miles from Leesburg, the county town, and 30 miles from Washington city, Alexandria and Georgetown, and find in these places good markets, by rail, for everything I have to sell.

The winters are mild here, snows not frequent and never heavy, and cattle need not be housed and fed more than four months in the year.

H. S. SMITH.
P. S. Lazy people and paupers had better stay away. The people about here are frugal and industrious, as a general thing, and have little sympathy for those who are not. Those who come here had better bring the means of paying for their land and of stocking it, but liberal credits can generally be had on the land.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—Bishop Johns in his report to the Council, in alluding to the General Conference in New York, last October, says:

"The overture for an organic convocation with the Church of England, the scheme to introduce the Provincial system, and the proposal to establish a General Court of Appeals, measures which were calculated to complicate and revolutionize the simple constitution under which we have signally prospered, and to disintegrate our confederation, soon enough for the most important separatist, were all defeated with an emphasis not to be mistaken."

"In regard to Ritualism, I cared little for new legislation, believing, as I did, the existing provision to be amply adequate for all proper discipline. Yet, as the canon is, in fact, only declaratory, I did not hesitate to vote for its adoption. It has, from various quarters, been assailed by criticism, and even by questionable levity, all of which would, perhaps, have been prevented by fuller information as to the history of the proceedings."

"The concession as to the use of the Baptismal office, so earnestly sought by many, and favored by the well-known wish of this diocese, though not accorded to the memorialists, received a consideration which does not discourage the hope that the day is coming when this occasion of complaint will be satisfactorily removed. Meanwhile, as the faulted phrase is no innovation but the language of the formu-laries of this Church from its organization and of the Reformers in England, on the continent, and as it has been judicially decided that its import harmonizes, as I verily believe it does, with the views of Baptism maintained by the school of theology to which the memorialists belong, I can see no reason why they may not, with good conscience, minister as their fathers have done, trusting to the power of truth and the prevalence of prayer to dispose their brethren to an adjustment which may accommodate the petitioners without disturbing the principles of others. More than this ought not to be sought, and short of this would be insufficient."

FORGING THE PRESIDENT'S NAME.—Forging the signature of President of the United States has been recently resorted to as a means to secure the reappointment of a discharged clerk in the pension office at Washington, and illustrates the questionable devices sometimes used to serve the purpose of desperate men.
 The unfortunate clerk, who is a German by nature, had enough to be reinstated, and on laying his case before the President the latter simply made a reference of the papers to the Secretary of the Interior. This not proving a recommendation he was not reinstated. When Commissioner Atkinson assumed his duties the same application was submitted, indorsed, "Referred to the Secretary of the Interior, recommending Mr. —'s reinstatement." Suspicion arising, the President was consulted, and the indorsement declared a forgery. The young man was confronted with this exposure at the department yesterday on appearing for his answer, when he stated that he believed the indorsement to be genuine; that it was obtained for him by a gentleman from Alabama, whose first name he did not know, and to whom he gave $10 for the service, the last money he had in the world. He was informed that he must find that man from Alabama, and he went away sorrowful, for the department intends to sift the matter to the bottom.—Baltimore Sun.

NEWSPAPERS.—An exchange paper says:
 "There are no business men in the world so subject to the sponging process as publishers of newspapers. It really seems that public corporations, societies and associations in general, and many persons, have a funny notion about papers. They think we ought to print, puff and publish all for nothing, that is, free gratis. In other words, they seem astonished if we ask half price for an obituary notice, card of thanks, tribute of respect, a personal communication or anything else that only interests a few persons and not the general reader. They forget that it takes money to pay the compositors, to buy ink, type and paper, and, lastly, they often forget even to thank you for gratuitously serving them or the public."

The symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general constive, sometimes alternating with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having been done something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility, and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved.

Nearly all diseases originate from Indigestion and Torpidity of the Liver, and relief is always anxiously sought after. If the Liver is regulated in its action, health is almost invariably secured. Want of action in the Liver causes Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Pain in the Shoulders, Cough, Chills, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, bad taste in the mouth, bilious attacks, palpitation of the heart, depression of spirits, or the blues, and a hundred other symptoms, for which SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is the best remedy that has ever been discovered. It acts mildly, effectually, and being a simple vegetable compound, can do no injury in any quantities that it may be taken. It is harmless in every way; it has been used for 40 years, and hundreds of the good and great from all parts of the country will vouch for its being the purest and best.

The Clergy.

 tion."—Ellen Mescham, Chattahoochee, Fla.
